

POSITION OF THEOLOGICAL IN UNIVERSITY

Discussion At Meeting Of Theological Society AT UNION

Theolog's Plan Interesting Programme For Year

The place of the Theological student in the university was elucidated in a paper given by H. R. C. Arison before the first monthly meeting of the Theological Undergraduate Society held last night at the Union. Although the attendance was small some lively discussion followed the reports of the committees and the paper.

At the suggestion of the S. C. A. Committee the next meeting of the society will be addressed by Mr. Arison Williams of India and other speakers, with the object of obtaining a closer understanding of the world student movement. A social program designed to bring the students of all the college into more intimate social relations was agreed upon.

Since the interfaculty debates have been abandoned for the current session a series of debates among the colleges was arranged. This may possibly lead to a debate with some outside college if necessary arrangements can be made. A Theological basketball team will be entered as last year, and in addition there will be teams in indoor baseball, Class Basketball, and Hockey. Inter-faculty Rugby and Soccer will also receive entries next session.

It was felt that Theology should continue to occupy its place in the Annual, and W. Grim was delegated to look after the matter.

In his paper Arison said that much of the misunderstanding between Theology and the other faculties was due to ignorance of each others real thought. The average student's idea of Theology is that of the caricature person, instead of one engaged in a task of which he was justly proud and the theologian student on his part often reacts to this criticism and adopts an apologetic attitude to that of keeping with his task. The ignorance is not one sided, for the Theolog himself often knows little of the attitude and outlook of other faculties apart perhaps from Arts. Arison called for a real attempt to understand each others viewpoints, and suggested an open Theological Undergraduate College Service, so arranged as to give a definite expression of Theological Society thought.

Mr. Arison touched on the difference of standards between the students stating that as a body the Theologs held the point of view of service and ideal as opposed to the more individual standard of the majority.

Criticising the Academic standard he looked forward to the time when there should be in Canada a Theological Faculty in a University controlled by the Churches which would be the centre of scholarly research. To this end he advocated a higher standard in both teaching and test, in order that the training in the Theological Colleges might equal or excel that of the increasingly efficient training of the other faculties.

The suggestions met with unanimous approval and following a prolonged discussion the executive of the Society was appointed to embody the recommendations into a report to be forwarded to the Faculty of the Theological Colleges.

Following the adjournment refreshments were served by arrangement with the Cafeteria.

INDIANA STUDENTS ARE NOT ALLOWED TO DRIVE CARS

A ruling has been drafted at Indiana University to be submitted for faculty action which, if passed, will prohibit all students from operating cars in Bloomington. Reasons given are twofold: relief of congested traffic in the town, and removal of temptation tending to lower scholastic standing of students.

"The Indiana Daily Student," student body daily, points at these premises with a grin of derision which finally develops into a howl of protest. It states, and with cause, that a city should be able to handle its traffic problems without restricting the use of automobiles to any certain class or classes, further remarking that the

ROOTER'S BAND AT UNION ON FRIDAY

Special Arrangements Being Made to Accommodate Rooters

The Rooter's Band will be on hand at the Union ball-room on Friday for a final practice before the game with M. A. A. on Monday. Those in charge have requested that all members of the band be present on this occasion.

Instead of the usual rooter's parade on the day of the game the band will assemble at the Union and march to the Stadium. Students who have coupon tickets will enter by the Fine Avenue Entrance. On either the right or left hand side at the head of the line they will present themselves and receive in return a badge which will admit them to the section, which has been reserved for the exclusive use of rooters.

This arrangement has been made in order that the rights of the rooters may be safe-guarded and that the public may not get into the reserved section, as happened at the McGill-Queens game two weeks ago.

For the two games to be played at McGill ample accommodation has been arranged. At the McGill-M. A. A. game, which will be played on Thanksgiving day, 1200 seats will be reserved for the rooters. 500 of these will be occupied by the R. V. C. At the game with Varsity on the following Saturday 1500 seats will be kept for the rooters. It is hoped that advantage will be taken of these arrangements and that every rooter will be in his or her place at both games at least ten minutes before the kick-off.

R.V.C. MUSIC CLUB TO MEET TO-DAY

Varied Programme by Students in Common Room

All R. V. C. students particularly newcomers, are cordially invited to attend the first meeting of the R. V. C. Music Club, which is being held this afternoon in the Common Room at 4 o'clock.

The programme is broad enough in scope to have something of interest for everybody, and it is expected that this new club will be strongly supported and will continue to add to its membership this year. A social half-hour and tea will follow the musical part of the programme, which will consist of the following numbers:

- 1—Piano solo—"By the Sea"—Schubert—Miss K. Robson.
- 2—Vocal solo—"Adoration"—Borowski—Miss M. Benny.
- 3—Vocal solo—"Indian Love Song"—Miss G. Griggs.
- 4—Piano solo—"Prelude"—Mendelssohn—Miss L. Hurd.
- 5—Quintet—A few favourite songs—Piano—L. Saunders.
- 6—Mandolin—M. Sangster.
- 7—Banjo—E. Cameron.
- 8—Violin—M. Benny.
- 9—Ukulele—M. Gilman.

Old John, custodian of the bath-houses at an English resort, was in the habit of entering Miss Augusta's compartment before she had completely reclined herself.

One morning she said to him: "John, you ought to knock before you come in. Some day you might come in while I was undressed."

To which honest old John replied: "Lor! bless you, miss! no danger of that. I alus peeks through the knot-hole afore I comes in."—Dayton Journal.

DANCING LESSONS FOR UNDERGRADS.

University of Kansas Add Dancing to Curriculum

(By the New Student)

A class "open to beginners in dancing and to those who are anxious to learn the fundamentals of good dancing" has recently been begun at the University of Kansas. Meetings, open to the entire university, are held every Friday afternoon, the first half being devoted to the teaching of dancing and the remainder to practicing. A small sum is charged for each lesson.

"The University recognizes the fact that dancing is the foremost form of social entertainment and is anxious to give students an opportunity to enjoy dancing to the fullest extent," said the Dean of Women in reply to the original petition from the men's and women's self-government organization for the establishment of the class.

INFORMAL TO BE BEST OF THIS SEASON

New Arrangements all Complete for To-morrow Night

8:30 SHARP

Professor and Mrs. French And Miss Joan Foster Chaperons

All arrangements are now completed for the Informal Dance to-morrow night in the Union Ball-room. The dance which is the last before Christmas, promises to be the best on record in the history of informals. Special arrangements have been made by the committee which will eliminate all the faults found at the previous dance. Despite the facts that a large number applied for tickets the committee have reduced the number of couples by twenty-five. This will give more dancing room for those attending and will eliminate the necessity of having supper in two sittings, which will lengthen the dancing time by quite an interval.

The dancing is due to start at 8.30 p. m. sharp and will continue no later than 1.00 a. m. Those who are later than the specified time are bound to lose the first few dances as the orchestra is instructed to start whether anyone is on the floor or not. There are a few tickets left at the Tuck Shop, but it is expected that there will be snapped up promptly before to-night. The refreshments will be served after the seventh dance and are expected to surpass anything yet seen at an informal.

The main attraction for to-night however is Burland's orchestra. This sextette has played already at one Jazz Tea and at numerous outside dances or the dancants and is considered everywhere the find of the season. "Bobbie" has been working his men hard lately, and they are all in great form. He has promised to spring a few surprises at the dance for which everyone is waiting in delightful anticipation. The two Saxophone players work in some fine duets, while the violinist, Vander Hage is one of the best. As for Burland's ability as an interpreter of Jazz, anyone who has heard him play will vouch for the fact that he is among the best in the University.

The executive have been very fortunate in their choice of chaperons, Professor and Mrs. French, and Miss Joan Foster, representing the R. V. C., having consented to act in that capacity.

The programme has been announced as follows:

Extra For Trot

- 1—Waltz.
- 2—Fox Trot
- 3—Fox Trot
- 4—Waltz
- 5—Fox Trot
- 6—Fox Trot
- 7—Waltz

First Supper Extra

- 8—Fox Trot
- 9—Waltz
- 10—Fox Trot
- 11—Fox Trot
- 12—Waltz

Psychological Society Held Final Meeting

Dr. R. S. WEIR

Noted Speaker Delivered Interesting Address Last Night

"The Psychology of Assemblies" was the subject of a very interesting address delivered last night before the Psychological Society by Dr. R. S. Weir, lawyer author and former recorder. This was the first meeting of the Society this year, and was attended by about thirty-five people.

The minutes of the last meeting held last spring, were read by the secretary D. R. MacVicar; their adoption was moved and seconded, E. P. Hoover president of the Society was Chairman for last night's meeting. He explained that programs were being printed giving dates of, and addresses to be delivered at, future meetings; unfortunately they were not ready for distribution last night.

Dr. Weir, in opening his address, said that he was honoured in being invited to speak before the McGill Psychological Society. He professed to know very little about the subject, and said he hoped for enlightenment during the discussion afterwards. Like many other prime subjects, psychology has been variously defined, one of the most fitting descriptions, in Dr. Weir's opinion, being that it is the study of behaviour.

Things are not what our minds portray; them to be—they may be totally different; hence the importance of the study of the human mind, which, by the way, is a very difficult subject. All minds probably differ from one another; the question naturally arises, "Are they part of a universal consciousness?" this question tends towards religion.

The relations existing between the soul, mind and body were there touched upon by the speaker. Are our souls and minds in our bodies or not? The effects of different bodies on minds and souls were then mentioned. The hereditary effect was stressed; Dr. Weir emphasized the points that we are immeasurably old—hundreds of thousands of years. We are the heirs of time and not the youngest but the oldest.

The foundations of all our moods, habits and instincts were laid long back through the ages; habits formed, sometimes of necessity, in the ancient days have been handed down to us.

Many instincts are recognized by physiologists, but probably the most important of all is that of gregariousness. This instinct has led men to keep together and to co-operate in many things; the Brotherhood of Man is an instinct. Gregariousness formed the nucleus of the evening's address.

Dr. Weir then used as an illustration two tribes or groups on different sides of a mountain: a man on one side adhered to his group, and the group, as a whole kept together and co-operated. The killing of a stranger was not considered murder, nor was the robbing of an outsider looked upon as a serious offense, but these crimes, if committed within one's own circle were punished. The speaker stated that this instinct was much to the force of late.

Lamont's books was then referred to; the illustrations and conclusions therein were drawn chiefly from investigations carried on in France, and would no doubt, said Dr. Weir, have been somewhat different if observed in England. Dealing with the psychology of the crowd, Lamont said that the cry in France was for Equality, while the English demand was more for Liberty. Group psychology may be studied in any nation, and the results will vary accordingly. The speaker said that he preferred to study the crowd in an enclosure rather than the street mob, for the evening's address. The study of the herd is extremely interesting and is very valuable in many cases.

There is always a steady flow of people from the country to the city and the reason generally given is an economical one: One psychological authority, however, thinks that the real reason lies in the attraction of the crowd there, and the desire of man to be amongst his fellows. The

MACCABAEAN STUDY GROUP MEETING

Interesting Subjects for Sunday Evening Discussion

The Maccabean Study Group is meeting for the second time since its organization, this Sunday evening at 8.15 o'clock at the home of Bernard Cohen, the president of the Maccabean Circle, 466 Wilson Ave., Notre Dame de Grace.

The Group is to have for discussion at this meeting two problems of the greatest interest, "The Races of Mankind" and "Is there a Jewish Race?" The first of these subjects will be introduced by Gordon Levy, Arts '25, who will discuss the manifold aspects of the problem, while Abraham Benjamin, Science '24, will deal with the second subject which is of an exceedingly controversial nature and which, it is expected, will evoke considerable interest and discussion.

As has been instituted at the Study Group, all present are expected to express their opinions and throw any new light possible on the subjects at hand.

SMALL SQUAD TURN OUT TO BASKETBALL

A. C. Moore to Coach Intermediate "B" and Juniors

MORE MEN WANTED

Minor Teams to Have Special Attention This Year

The Montreal High School Gymnasium was the scene last night of the second work-out of the Basketball Club, when about thirty aspirants for the four teams turned out. The men were given a fast hours practice under the tutelage of Mr. Van Wagner and Mr. A. L. Moore.

Mr. A. L. Moore has been secured to coach the Intermediate "B" and the Junior basketball teams for the coming season. Mr. Moore, who entered the faculty of Medicine at McGill last year, is a graduate in Physical Education from Springfield College, where he played on the Varsity Football Team and was a member of the track and gymnastic teams. Aside from experience as a competitor in various forms of athletics Mr. Moore has had considerable experience as an official and coach of basketball. He is already well known in Montreal, for last year he was physical director and basketball coach at the M. A. A. and was largely responsible for the success of the Peel Street team in reaching the finals for the Dominion championship.

The basketball club is very fortunate in securing the services of so competent a tutor for the Intermediate and Junor teams. The new coach will give special attention so that the men playing on the minor teams will be given a good start which should lead eventually to a place on the Senior team.

It is the policy of the Basketball Club this year to instruct the men who are turning out for the first time in the fundamentals of the game. For this, various practice will be held to-night and Friday at the High School Gym. It is hoped that more men will turn out whether they have had basketball experience or not as the squad this year is disappointingly small. Four teams will represent McGill this year in basketball, and at least thirty five men will be carried on the squad.

The management feel that there are a large number of men in college who have latent basketball ability and with serious practice under excellent coaching these men should make the college teams.

example of the South African ox was cited: it evidenced extreme distress when separated from the herd and unbounding joy upon its return. There is too human analogy to this of a man being lost in woods, separated from his fellow-men for perhaps a short period, and then rejoicing them.

Dr. Weir then laid stress upon the attraction of the throng: the love to walk along crowded streets and to go to concerts where crowds are present. The football match was cited as an example: he thought that the main attraction was the mob and the two parties—the love to be on one side with a large number of one's friends, and not the actual game itself. On the other hand, solitary confinement is the most dreadful punishment for man.

ARTS '26 LEADING IN CHARITY DRIVE

Law '27 Average Over Two Dollars Per Student

Arts '26 is leading in the federalist charity drive having collected $41.25 to date. Law '27 is a close second with $40.00. Commerce '26 is third and Dentistry '25 is fourth; the two latter classes have each collected over twenty dollars. Law '27 has the best personal average with a little over $2.00 per person. No definite figures have been received from the faculty of Science, but the work is going strong in that faculty. In Medicine the collectors have been a little tardy, and not very much headway has been made. No definite figures have been received from the R. V. C. but it is rumoured that the co-eds have contributed a very satisfactory sum.

On Friday night the campaign comes to an end. If the McGill quota is to be filled, the work must be hastened in some classes. Montreal is expecting McGill to oversubscribe but this is impossible if the tardy classes do not devote more attention to the project, said F. M. Reid, campaign chairman for McGill.

This evening the campaign will enter its last lap and each of the class executives is expected to make a report in the afternoon to Reid.

PLANS BEING MADE FOR JUNIOR PROM.

Friday, Nov. 28th Will Be Probable Date

The Junior Prom this year will probably be held on Friday, Nov. 28th, the Junior Prom Committee last night decided at their first meeting. An orchestra was not definitely chosen although the names of several were suggested. A large number of tickets than usual will be for sale as there are no Juniors in Commerce this year. Some of these tickets will in all probability be sold to Commerce Seniors. Although decorations will be carried out on a smaller scale than in former years the decorating will still constitute an important part of the dance. This part of the work is being turned over to the Juniors in Architecture.

Ted Newton, of last year's Committee, who was acting for Gordie Nairn, last year's chairman, occupied the chair, and immediately called for appointment of officers. Those nominated were:

Chairman: Graeme Gorrie, Arts.
Business Manager: F. B. Bowman, Med.

Secretary: Miss R. Duntón, Arts.
The faculties of Arts, Science, Medicine, and Law were represented. Dentistry representatives did not appear.

SPEEDBALL NEW SPORT IS PLAYED ON FOOTBALL GRID

Columbia, Mo., Speedball, a new game formed of a combination of football and soccer, has been established as a regular intra-mural sport at Missouri. The game is played on a regulation football field and the main difference between the new game and football is in the scoring.

Mac, the Scotsman, searched everywhere but could not find his ticket. Finally the conductor drew it out of Mac's mouth and told him what he thought of him.

"Oh, I'm not such a darned fool," said Mac, "I was licking the date off it."

HALLOWEEN PRANKS WERE ATTEMPTED FORTY YEARS AGO

Halloween pranks were attempted by Ohio State students 40 years ago as much as they are today. Professor Joseph N. Bradford, University architect, declares Professor Bradford, who graduated in the class of 1883, tells of an incident which occurred one Halloween while he was a student at the University.

"We had military training in those days too," he said, "but it was no more in favor then than it is today. There were two brass cannon out in front of what is now Brown Hall with which we had to drill. We were getting mighty tired of drilling with them, so when Halloween came around the cadets thought it would be a good opportunity to get rid of them."

STATION CFCF VISITED BY RADIO CLUB

Mr. Darling In Charge Of Party During Visit

500 WATT SET

New Members Showed Much Interest in Trip

The first visit of the McGill Radio Association was made last night to the Marconi Company's Broadcasting station C F C F which is on top of the Canada Cement Building.

Mr. Darling who announces for the station met the party at the door and escorted the party through the station. The heavily silk lined studio room was first inspected. It was noticed that the microphone cord was very heavily insulated and also protected by a metal outer casing. It was explained that this was done to remove as much as possible the induction of the electric light circuit which is very strong in that locality.

Mrs. Darling then set the amplifier going to show the difference that the placing of the microphone makes with regard to certain instruments.

He then started the transmitting apparatus and played a record to show the variations in current of the modulating tube. The set proper uses three tubes, for oscillator amplifier and modulator respectively. There are also two tubes used for rectifying the current used. The current is stepped up to 10,000 volts and down to 15 volts for the plates and filaments. The current is then forced through the rectifiers and to the tubes. The voltage for plate and filament can be finely adjusted by means of choke coils inserted in the primary circuit of the transformer.

The present power of the station is about five hundred watts, and the station has an established range of about 1500 miles, and under good conditions has been heard on the coast. A seventeen hundred watt set is to be installed within the next two or three months. It is now under construction in the Montreal Works of the Marconi Company. A new tube is also to be used that is expected to give better results for the varied conditions.

The party then left after Mr. Darling was thanked by President R. Weir for allowing the party to visit the studio and explaining the different details of broadcasting.

ARTS SOPHOMORES CHOOSE CLASS PIN

The design and style of the class pin for Arts '27 were decided upon by members of the second year in Arts, yesterday. The pin is unique in design, is small, and of gold with enamelled lettering. Gilmour is chairman of the committee in charge of securing the pins. The vote was practically unanimous for the accepted design and from the evident opinion of those present, a large number of the pins are going to be obtained.

A NEW SUBJECT IN CURRICULUMS

A New Student news dispatch which we publish elsewhere in this issue brings to us the information that the University of Kansas has added dancing to its curriculum. This was done in response to a request from the students, self-government association of the University. There is no doubt whatsoever about dancing being fine exercise and an excellent form of amusement, but it is very debatable whether the teaching of it should find a place in a university curriculum. Certainly the fact that it is recognised as one of the foremost forms of social entertainment does not warrant its being listed among the subjects taught at a college.

It is true that Kansas has added this course only as an "extra" and that a small additional fee is exigible for the privilege of joining this class which "is open to beginners in dancing and to those who are anxious to learn the fundamentals of good dancing", but the mere fact that the course is being sponsored and directed by the University government, leads us to believe that this institution of higher learning has taken a step in the wrong direction. When pondered over seriously, the idea of dancing being taught at a university becomes almost ridiculous.

We, in this northern country, treat dancing as a pleasant diversion. We go to the theatres and admire the rhythmical movements of exponents of the art. But we are not yet prepared to attach sufficient dignity to dancing to place it side by side in a college curriculum with courses in Shakespeare or moral philosophy. Probably our ideas on the subject are antiquated; there is even the likelihood that we are not "keeping up with the times". Who can tell what changes in our outlook a few more years in this highly-evolved civilization may bring? If gifted with prophetic vision we might see in two decades hence Universities in the more advanced countries turning out finished barbers, window cleaners, or chimney sweeps, while we, slower in overcoming our conservative ideas, may be taking courses in dancing.

ATTRACTION OF THROG WAS TOPIC

Although throggs were useful, and often necessary, in olden times chiefly as a matter of protection, it is doubtful whether they are beneficial now in civilized places. The instinct of fear may have some relation to the instinct of gregariousness.

In the opinion of many the instinct of fear was responsible for the recent election results in England this fear was induced by the Bolshevistic propaganda. Similarly, in 1911, the fear of annexation led to the defeat of the Reciprocity Campaign. Another example was the remaining of the French in the Ruhr districts: this was caused by fear of the big nation across the Rhine.

The crowd that he would rather study, went on Dr. Weir, was that to be found in the streets. The question arises "How can we account for their manifestation?" There is a growing tendency on the part of churches and theatres to become alike in architecture of late. The doctrine given by some Christian people is that in order to get the most out of Church one must disregard the place of worship altogether and rather be influenced by a Spiritual Presence. In an ordinary hall the atmosphere has to be kindled by the speaker himself. Upon entering a Cathedral one is immediately struck with awe by the height of the structure: any things built out of proportion similarly attract attention. Architecture creates or destroys the atmosphere of a church and consequently the psychological factors influencing architecture should be studied. The English theatre is smaller than the Canadian or American: the effect of the human voice is thus made more forceful as every accent and tone is detected.

Dr. Weir then returned to Lamon's work and compared the results of the difference of freedom in England and France: he thought that more liberty had made for less risk of fires and revolutions in England and that free street speaking had developed some excellent orators.

"I's afraid Johnny isn't trying enough," wrote an anxious mother to the teacher of her little boy. "You are quite wrong, madam," wrote back the teacher. "I assure you Johnny is the most trying boy in the class."

A famous preacher made a neat score on one occasion against an anonymous correspondent.

While in his pulpit one Sunday morning a note was handed to him by the vergor, and upon opening it he found scrawled across a sheet of paper the word "Fool."

Rising to the occasion, he exhibited it to his congregation, and said: "In my time I have received much anonymous correspondence in which the writer has written the letter but forgotten to sign his name. But here is a strange thing—a man has signed his name and omitted to write the letter."

SENIORS ARE ALL DOWN TO WORK AGAIN

Uncertain Whether Hughes Will Start Monday

LAST GAMES

Meet M.A.A.A. on Thanksgiving And Toronto the Following Saturday

Most of the regulars were out to yesterday afternoon's rugby practice at the Stadium, when Coach Shaughnessy gave the men a good work-out. Several new plays were tried and concentrated upon until they were going smoothly. As it is yet somewhat uncertain whether Hughes will be in condition to enter the next game, a new kicker is being developed to be sent into the contest if he is needed. Alex Moore, whose bruised foot is still bothering him was kept out of the practice, but his injury is not at all serious, and he should be back in the line right away.

Thanksgiving Day the seniors go up against the M. A. A. outfit, and then on the following Saturday meet the Blue and White squad from Varsity in the last intercollegiate encounter of the season.

Toronto, who are playing against the Tri-colour the end of this week, have still a chance of tying the men from Kingston for first place, but to do this they will have to defeat both Queen's this Saturday, and McGill one week later. Queen's by winning from Toronto will have the title for the third successive season and should be favourite to take the Dominion championship. McGill will be just as hard to beat as the Tri-colour for the Red and White warriors will be fighting to gain a place in the win column, and draw up even with Varsity to finish the season. They did it last year and ought to turn the trick again.

NEW DIRECTOR FOR MCGILL SETTLEMENT

D. B. Detwiler, secretary of the Young Men's section of the Winnipeg Y. M. C. A., will leave for Montreal, Nov. 20, to take over the direction of McGill university settlement work in the capacity of director. This work is entirely among the boys and young men of Montreal, and is under the direct supervision of the university, which supplies the volunteer workers needed in addition to the paid staff. The work of the physical department of the settlement is done in the university gymnasium.

Mr. Detwiler has been with the Winnipeg Y. M. C. A. for several years, and C. R. Sayer, general secretary, gives him great credit for the work done in that department among the young men of the city. The appointment is an important one in the field of social service. Mr. Detwiler's resignation was accepted by the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. on Monday, to take effect in two weeks.

As a member of Young Methodist church, and among a large circle of friends made in Winnipeg, "Mr. Det." as he was known to the young men of the city will be missed with his smile, sympathetic understanding and helpful advice to hundreds of young men.

After reconsidering the matter, His Lunar Highness has finally decided against taking a girl to the Illinois game. Co-eds have a disconcerting manner of falling in love with every player that makes a touchdown, while the poor, but generous escort remains utterly ignored.

There are, of course, the following drastic methods of taking a girl's mind (if she has one) off the football game and away from the handsome athletes:

1. Keep offering her peppermint drops during the critical moments of the game.
2. Jokingly tickle her under the chin with your pen-knife just as the visiting left guard is being thrown for a 60-yard loss. This will make her giggle, and a giggling co-ed is not in a position for Hero Worship.
3. Tell her the latest joke about Pat and Mike just as the full-back is plunging through center for 89 yards. She will laugh so much that tears will come to her eyes, temporarily and successfully blinding her.
4. Place your arm around her back. She will then give you her undivided attention.
5. If worse comes to worse, become attacked with terrific headaches, and make her take you home.—Minnesota Daily.

SOCCER MEN PLAY ROYAL HIGHLANDERS

Game at Molson Stadium on Saturday

PRACTICE TO-DAY

Team Will Also Face Grenadier Guards on Monday

This week-end will be a gruelling one for the McGill Soccer players, as on Saturday they will meet The Royal Highlanders and on Monday the Grenadier Guards. Winning recognition by a series of victories which culminated in the defeat of the Nomads, the third team in the Montreal Senior League, on Saturday of last week, has determined the Royal Highlanders to attempt to stop the meteoric progress of the McGill team, and they will have an opportunity to do this when they meet the students on the Stadium on Saturday next. The Red and White men will meet their rivals with the confidence characteristic of the team, and are determined to add the result of this game to an already creditable list of triumphs.

On Monday, if the present arrangements are completed, through the courtesy of Brigadier General McLeigh, the ambitious collegians will test their strength against the Grenadier Guards, the Inter-City League champions of Canada, and as is to be expected, this will likely prove the stiffest fight of the season.

These two games will provide the finishing touches for the most important match of the year, when the Intercollegiate Soccer Championship will be decided between Toronto and McGill at Toronto on November 15. This championship has never been won by McGill, and it is with a view to rectifying this long felt deficiency that the best matches procurable have been arranged for the Red and White team with the Senior League Clubs of the city, in order that they could get the finest practice available. The results of these games seem to justify the opinion that McGill has more than a sporting chance of bringing home the trophy when they meet their Blue and White rivals.

The strength of the Toronto team must not be underrated however, as they have just completed a successful tour in the states, and when the two teams clash in Toronto, a match should ensue that will long be remembered by lovers of Association Football.

In order to provide some practice for the eleven before it takes the field against the Highlanders on Saturday, a game has been arranged between eleven composed of the McGill seniors and juniors. The match will be played on the campus at 3:15 p. m. and the first eleven defence supplemented by the forwards of the second eleven will play a team composed of the second eleven defence and the first eleven forwards. As no work-outs have been held this week, it is absolutely essential that every man be present at 3:15 p. m. so that when the eleven faces their opponents each player will be in the best possible condition.

The following are the teams:— "A" Easterbrook, Cave, Stephen, Giovando, Archdale, Helwig, Shippman, Brain, Henry, Airey and Kellam. "B" Phant, McLeod, Smith, Taylor, Goddard, Anson, Kelland, Scott, Seaton, Moffatt and Balleny.

ON AUTUMN LEAVES

Autumn leaves are falling and the trees will soon be bare. People take those beautiful leaves and burn them in everywhere. They burn them in the alleys and they burn them in the streets! The smoke swirls round and hugs the ground in suffocating sheets. At last I've learned what poets mean who write in rapturous lays Of "the fiery leaves of autumn" and the "smoky autumn haze."—Satsuma.

The new library authorities made a grave mistake when they put swallows in the main reading room. Yellow canaries or brilliant parrots would have been much more in harmony with the beautiful surroundings.—Minnesota Daily.

M.S.P.E. WIN TENNIS GAME WITH R.V.C.

Desisive Game Played In Hollow

THREE SETS

Kensit And Ballard Defeat DeBlois and Cameron

The M. S. P. E. team carried off the College Tennis championship yesterday when they defeated the R. V. C. team in three hard fought sets of doubles the final score being 5-7, 6-1, 6-4.

The two sides were extremely well matched as to tennis ability. Miss Cameron and Miss De Blois represented the R. V. C., while Miss Kensit and Miss Ballard upheld the honor of the M. S. P. E.

Thel players were apparently somewhat stiff at first owing to the very cold afternoon and the lack of practice during the last few days of snowy weather. Because of this many doubles were served and quite a few balls went out at first and the game was a bit slow, but it warmed up later on in the first set. There were many good rallies in the second game which went to the M. S. P. E., the R. V. C. having won the first. The third game reached twice many times and the first set ended 7-5, for R. V. C.

The second set was characterized by clever playing on the part of Miss Kensit and featured many rushes to the net by Miss Kensit and Miss Ballard. The M. S. P. E. team won the second set, making the score 1-1.

The last set was a hard struggle from start to finish each side winning every alternate game. In this set Miss Cameron's serving showed to splendid advantage. Finally after much see-sawing of the score, first in favor of one side and then the other, the M. S. P. E. team took the ninth and tenth games bringing the score to 6-4 in their favor, and winning for them the set and match.

By this game the Physical Education girls have won the deciding match, as tennis honors were divided last week when the R. V. C. won the two doubles matches and the M. S. P. E. the two singles.

TRADING WISDOM

"From out my window, high and wide, I watch you all," the old man sighed; "I look down from my wisdom cell, To find the campus all pell-mell."

"They scatter here and there and yon, Each pretty Jane with a care-free John." The old man smiles—I see him wink, He'd gladly trade with them, I think.—H.R.H.

But, as the full-back said after he had punctured the enemy's line, "I am now through."—H.20.

SECOND TEAM TAKE U. OF M. GAME EASILY

McGill Rugby Squad Shows Good Form at Stadium

SCORE 34-1

Birkett and Gorrie Outstanding Gendron Starred for U. of M.

The McGill Intermediates once more took the U of M team into camp yesterday afternoon at the Stadium. The game was a little one sided as the score of 34-1 would indicate, although at times the Frenchmen rallied and made things hot for McGill.

The Red and White men were in good condition, and kept control of the play most of the time. The score mounted up by five tries all of which were converted, one drop kick, and one rouge. The St. Denis Street players kicked one rouge for their lone point.

A slight improvement was noticed in the U of M team since their last game. They seemed less dazed than before, and at times worked nice plays. The team played together a little better, and managed to follow the ball more accurately. Whenever the play became particularly thick they seemed to be lost and failed to display the concerted action necessary to a successful rugby squad.

The more experienced McGill squad found opportunity to try out many of their new plays and worked end runs to perfection from both sides. Birkett of the Red and White was kicking well, and in two or three places made very good return kicks. Gorrie also played a very fine game, and made several long runs and substantial gains through the line. On one occasion he ran the ball over fifty five yards back after a kick.

The University of Montreal half Gendron put up the best game for his team, and with a little more training and conditioning should make a very valuable man.

The line up was as follows:

McGill	U. of M.
Wright	Snap
	Inside
Yule	Dansereau
O'Donnell	Tremblay
	Middle
Almond	Masson
Douell	Reeves
	Outside
Brennan	Rappoport
Jones	Thomas
	Flying Wing
Gilmour	Brodeur
Bazin	Leroux
	Half
Birkett	Gendron
Arnold	Desy
Gorrie	Gauthier

The officials were Philpott, Harwood and Peacock.

The news reports that convicts in a West Virginia penitentiary have started an "all noise, no work strike." This is just another incident that tends to prove our contention that all college men do not come to a good end. The convicts insist on making all the noise they can and will do absolutely no work, and they seem to be getting away with it. Such a finished performance indicates that the majority of them must have taken C. and T. courses here or elsewhere.—The Pennsylvanian.

COMMERCE READY FOR SCIENCE GAME

Commerce Have Snappy Fighting Squad

The Commerce Rugby squad turned out twenty strong on the Campus yesterday and went through a good signal practice, preparatory for the game with Science on Friday. The Commerce have been going strong this year and are out to beat the Engineers. The players realize that they have a job on their hands as Science is rated as one of the strongest teams in the league this year. Science have defeated all the leading teams and are in a fair way for the championship. However they will probably meet the best opposition, yet in Commerce who have also been showing great form. Commerce have not been beaten yet and will put up a great battle before they are stopped.

They showed their strength last week when they downed the strong Arts team, giving that squad a merry white-wash. Commerce is fortunate in having both a good line and a strong backfield. There are six men on the squad who all play well in the backfield and are great ball carriers. Commerce this year has a large number of pretty plays and which they use to good advantage. The Lehon-Eveleigh combination vies with the famous Batsone-McKelvey team when end runs are needed. Lebaron is a tower of strength on the line and plunges like a battering ram. To date, the husky middle has been good for eight to ten yards on one buck. Demitre and Carson make good insides and will stop anything coming that way. Morrell is a bear at scooping up fumbles as the Arts and Dents will testify. Captain Kelland has a well balanced team which will be a hard one for any team to stop.

The game on Friday is important and will be one of the best on the schedule. A win for either team will bring the Interfaculty Championship within its grasp neither squad is leaving anything to chances and every man is ready to dig in hard.

The Editor, Dear Sir, Answering your correspondent of yesterday's Daily regarding the Mandoline club I beg to state certain facts which perhaps he knows nothing about. In the first place the executive of the mandolin club have been trying to arrange a practice team for the last three weeks. Three weeks ago arrangements were made for a Tuesday night practice. Mr. Peate, director with whom arrangements were made was called out of town. When he returned arrangements were again made for a Tuesday night practice on November 4th. Tuesday of this week, but owing to an unfortunate omission on the part of the Daily, the article giving notice of the practice to be held, was omitted in Tuesday's Daily and published in Wednesday's Daily, which caused further complications. Mr. George Peate, past Director of Mandolin club, is unable to take the club this year and one of his assistants Mr. Kent has been delegated to look after the club.

It is only blatant, prejudiced ignorance which will condemn and intimate incompetence on the part of the executive of any club. Might not your correspondent be actually asked to come down from his airy self-esteem, righteously and remember not to accuse before knowing.

In closing may I add these facts above mentioned are facts, not alibis. Yours Truly, MANDOLINE CLUB EXECUTIVE

STUDENT'S VIEWS ON IDEAL COLLEGE

On February 14th of this year President Hopkins, of Dartmouth College, addressed a letter to ten undergraduates inviting them to contribute their views as to how Dartmouth might "approach as near as is humanly possible to those ideals which a privately endowed, historic, liberal college is justified in holding." The students accepted.

1.—The Definition of a College.

"It is the purpose of the college to provide a selected group of men with a comprehensive background of information about the world and its problems, and to stimulate them to develop their capacity for rational thinking, philosophic understanding, creative imagination, and aesthetic sensitiveness, and to inspire them to use these developed powers in becoming leaders in service to society."

2.—The Faculty—"Whatever be the system of education adopted, the faculty will inevitably determine whether the actual practice of that system be good or bad."

"We are... weighted down with too many men, who... are by nature unfitted for the task of lecturing... who lack... knowledge of the subject... or who lack... those elusive yet vital traits of character which make us say that this man commands our respect..."

"The impersonal relationship between teacher and student, and the present class-room, lecture-hall, final-exam system of education is the inevitable outcome of the popular philosophy that men neither want an education nor possess the intelligence and the initiative to go about acquiring it in a non-paternalistic manner..."

"We are proposing, therefore, a method of education, which, in counting on the resourcefulness and initiative of the student, seeks thereby to develop these qualities, and which, by abolishing to a large extent the formal lecture and the orthodox class, seeks to bring about a vital, personal relationship between teacher and student..."

"It is our contention that there are many men, who, under the present mass-production system of teaching, will to succeed as platform lecturers, who would succeed as teachers of individuals under a system, approaching individual instruction..."

3.—The Method of Instruction—"If we were asked what above all else accounts for the fact that studies are in disrepute and that the American undergraduate turns his superabundant energy elsewhere but upon them, we would point first of all to the way in which studies are administered..."

"It is our belief that any system based on the assumption that the student is unwilling to work is almost sure to fail and that any real step forward in education must be preceded by its rejection and the adoption, at least tentatively, of the hypothesis that the student can and will work of his own volition..."

"The chief indictment against the present method of teaching is that the student is forced into a passive rather than an active attitude... The student is pitifully dependent upon the instructor for information or for directions as to how to get it. He doesn't know how to investigate a subject, he only knows that if he reads with ordinary care certain designated pages of a certain book he will know enough about that particular subject to answer the questions he may be asked about it by the instructor who knows he has only read with ordinary care a certain designated book."

"Another undesirable result of the spoonfeeding system is that the student becomes uncritical of information offered him. This instructor tells him what is right and what books he may consider authoritative. When he no longer has an instructor to whom to turn, how is he going to find his way...? What may he believe and why?"

Under the lecture system the student "becomes a stenographer, busily engaged taking notes—so busy that he cannot think for an instant about what the instructor is saying. Memory is good and necessary, but it is not enough..."

"Courses should be so taught that the student acquires certain information and handles critical problems or questions on the basis of it—in other words, thinks about it... and at the same time increases the responsibility, initiative, and interest of the student..."

"We suggest:

1—Virtual abolition of lectures.

2—Long time assignment by topic.

3—Small classes meeting weekly.

4—Office hours for consultation with instructor.

5—Written work—in the form of short assigned papers giving training in original thinking and organization of material.

6—Additional check on students work—making it necessary for him to complete one quarter's work before undertaking the next.

For immediate consideration, the committee suggested:

(a)—The plan of assigning sections the basis of ability.

(b)—The substitution in place of the daily quiz of "a program of periodic papers of an exhaustive nature treating one phase or field of the course in its entirety," occasional quizzes in very elementary courses; and the use of hour examinations only when unavoidable during the first two years.

(c)—A middle passing grade with two grades above and two below supplemented by one failing grade (i.e. A and B. C. D and E, and F).

(d)—That the number of cuts allowed a student be in proportion to the student's scholastic standing.

Degree—The committee feels that the distinction between the A.B. and the B.S. degrees was objectionable and suggests:

(1)—The complete abolition of the distinction between the two degrees and the awarding of the B. A. degree to all successful candidates.

(2)—Or, if two degrees be awarded, making the criterion of award the student's major subject.

(4)—The Curriculum—The com-

FOSSILIZED GRADUATES

The tendency for graduates to fossilize is ably commented on in the following paragraphs. They are from the Bryn Mawr "News."

"And I think it will reward you to buy at least one of these books," says the professor mildly. The class beams. Here at last is the Great Idea for which they have always longed. Simultaneously they seize pencils and make notes of the books he suggests. At the end of the hour they proceed in a dense mass to the Book Shop, where they all order books.

No, this is not exactly an actual portrait of Bryn Mawr College. In fact, it is a trifle idealized. For the undergraduate asks, "Why should I ever wish to read a book again? Surely there is nothing to be gained from a second reading. When I have once read Arnold or Shakespeare I thoroughly understand him. I shall be educated when my course is over, and then, what further need of books shall I have?"

Use the hall copy by all means, provided you can get hold of it, and when you set up housekeeping, buy yourself a shiny new edition of the Classics. You will not open them, but why should you? You learned everything there was to learn about them in college. Besides, it might break the bindings.

"What kind of hotels did the cave men have?"—EX.

mittee recommends that the first two years be devoted to required courses calculated to give the student a cultural background; and that the last two years be thrown open to electives.

Freshman Year—Freshman English; Modern Civilization and its Problems; Evolutions (a full year course); Modern or Ancient Language; One elective.

Sophomore Year—A course in literature; a course in Science; one semester in philosophy or psychology plus one semester in philosophy, psychology or art including music. One elective.

Junior Year—Two full courses at the disposal of the major department. Three electives.

Senior Year—Two full courses at the disposal of the major department. Three electives.

(5)—Admission—Any discussion of admissions, it seems to one committee, must begin from the premise that the College can not accept everyone who raps on its doors seeking entrance.—By The New Student.

Hiking to College

So great was their desire for a college education that two boys of Everett, Massachusetts, hiked all the way to the University of Idaho, says The Boston Evening Transcript. They were given many lifts along the way; one of 600 miles, and one of 400 miles. It took them only four days to reach Chicago.
